

Mr John Osborne

Consultant Gynaecologist University College Hospital London. Born in London. Educated at the London Hospital Medical College, qualified in 1966. Junior posts in the UK were followed by two years in South Africa 1968 to 1969, working at King Edward V111 Hospital Durban and Edendale Hospital Pietermaritzburg in Obstetrics and Gynaecology, a life changing experience and introduction to African medicine.

After returning to the UK following further experience in surgery and urology, Registrar training at St Mary's Hospital Paddington. Urology research at the Middlesex Hospital and four years as Lecturer/Senior Registrar at Queen Charlotte's and Chelsea Hospital. Appointed as Consultant in Obstetrics and Gynaecology at Queen Charlotte's and Chelsea Hospitals for Women and the Middlesex Hospital. Final post as Obstetrician/Gynaecologist University College Hospital London.

Chairman of the Elizabeth Garrett Anderson Hospital Appeal Trust and Chairman of TASK Women's Health.